General Comment

I want to say that I am a big user of options in my retirement account. I have learned how to trade options properly to minimize risk and help protect hard earned gains in my account. I would like to continue using this trading strategy to increase the amount of money I will have for retirement. I'm years old and very concerned that social security will not be there for me. I need every safe way to protect my retirement account possible. Please do NOT restrict options trading in 401k and IRA accounts. Thank a ayou
